Registration Process

RCA will screen prospective participants for current membership status. Participants will then be directed to AOK for official trip registration via online form or by phone. AOK will confirm individual reservations and be responsible for providing trip planning documents and preparation information to each participant.

Financial Considerations

AOK will collect all fares and fees related to the trip directly from each participant. A portion of revenue collected may be paid to RCA as a commission, but will not be deducted from revenue reported on the post use report.

Equipment and Services – AOK Rafting

AOK Rafting will provide 100% of equipment and services for this trip. This includes all guiding services, rafting and safety gear, camping gear, food and beverage and shuttle services. AOK employees will be responsible for conducting all aspects of the trip including boat handling, safety, daily itinerary, camp set up and all logistics.

Equipment and Services – River Conservation Association

A representative of RCA will accompany the trip. The RCA representative has no responsibilities for conducting any aspect of the trip, but may provide general information about RCA as well as specific information on the organization's conservation efforts in the region.

I trust all is in order with the arrangements for this trip as outlined above. Please call or email if you have any questions.
